

Photo credits

Rivers: Ritebook.in

The Meeting of Waters | Encontro das Águas is a phenomenon that happens at the confluence of the Negro River, of black water, and the Solimões River, of muddy water, where the waters of rivers flow side by side without mixing for an extension of more than 6 km. Then the waters of the two rivers come together and start to be called the Amazon River, one of the primary economic and transport means for the inhabitants of Manaus, Brazil. The meeting of the waters of these two rivers is one of the main tourist attractions in the region.

Tossin: Photo of the artist, www.arteinformado.com, Blanton Museum